A STRANGE ADVENTURE OF A NIGHT.

On the deck of the Holyhead steamer, away from the harbor of Kingstown, and nearing the coast of Wales, the sky rolling blue above, and the ocean blue beneath, suddenly a cry arose that some one was overboard. I had seen the accident before the cry was uttered; and flinging off my coat and waistcoat, was plunging from the taffrail of the vessel into the sea before many on board were aware that any accident had happened.

I was an expert swimmer, and in the heyday of youthful vigor, and having seen the fall, made sure of being able to effect a rescue. The boy had fallen (and well for him) to the stern of the paddle-box, clear of the revolution of the wheel, and before the vessel, in the confusion of the moment could be stopped, she had necessarily shot far ahead of where he fell. I had, however, not many strokes to swim before I reached him, and I then kept him buoyant in in the water until the boat sent from the steamer neared and took us in. He was saved!

I was overwhelmed with thanks; blessings—warm blessings, bedewed with paternal tears—were showered upon me, and I would have leaped twenty times into any angry flood and swam twenty different times to any distant "point" proposed by any Cæsar, for no other purpose save that of witnessing the rapturous joy of the fond-hearted and devoted mother, when the child, whom for a moment, in a wild delirium of indescribable agony, she looked as lost, was restored safe and unhurt to her arms.

He was noble, the only son and apparent heir of the Marquis of D——.

The service I had rendered this noble house led to an intimacy between my family and theirs, which ripened into a friendship—a real, lasting, hearty friendship—between the Marquis and myself, in which there was not one particle of patronage on his part. We were both about the same age, and being both passionately fond of field-sports and all athletic exercises (in which he excelled) we became, whenever opportunity permitted, inseparable companions by flood and field; and many, many happy months did I and my family spend at his hospitable and princely mansion, and thus friendship between noble and commoner became more deeply cemented, without a grain of patronage on one hand, or fawning servility on the other.

* * * * * * * * *

A wild night in January! the rain was coming down in torrents, the wind was sweeping through street and lane, over lordly mansions and miserable garrets. About ten years after the event recorded above, I was seated in my lodgings in one of the northern suburbs of Dublin, on such a night as this. Sad reverses and fierce afflictions had overtaken me; through some fatal flaw in an old musty parchment I had lost my patrimonial inheritance; straightened circumstances succeeded affluent independence. A fearful epidemic raging through the city forced itself into our dwelling; my wife died after a few hours' illness, my three eldest children followed. In a few days I had seen four coffins containing the dust of all I loved most on earth, consigned to the grave. I was, myself, a stricken and altered man, prematurely old and gray before my time.

I had spent the day traversing the city, hunting up old acquaintances who had, or might have had, governmental influence, for I was in quest of employment. Having no longer any landed property to look after, I found not only that time lay very heavy on my hands, but that it was absolutely necessary for me to embark in some remunerative undertaking, whereby I might support myself and three young children, more especially now as the little I had been able to save out of the general wreck was fast dwindling away into nothing.

I had been unsuccessful in my canvassing; what man, when overtaken by difficulties, was ever successful with the world? The world, as a world worships success, and, without staying to inquire the cause, frowns on and has no sympathy with failure; and now, after a light repast, I was sitting dawdling over the pages of the Irish Times, when I was startled into a kind of pleasurable excitement by the following paragraph:

"Arrived, yesterday, at the Belton Hotel, after two years' sojourn on the continent, the Marquis and Marchioness of D——, family and suite, en route to their beautiful seat in ——."

What a thrill of varied emotion shot through my brain as I read the above! When last I saw my noble and valued friend, I had independence, rank and numberless worldly blessings; now I was a crushed, forlorn and ruined man. Death had robbed me of my heart-treasures, and legal chicanery and lawyers' quibbles had deprived me of the means of support.

The pleasure of again seeing, again speaking to and again enjoying the society of my warm-hearted friend, was the first thought uppermost in my mind; but when I reflected under what altered circumstances we should meet—what I had been, what I was now, and all that I had suffered since last I saw him—with these thoughts a sickening sensation crept over me; I felt an uneasy pulsation in my heart, a sudden an unusual moisture in my eyes, and the paper dropped listlessly to the floor.

"Nay, this must not be," said I rousing myself, springing up and pacing the room; "indulging in these thoughts will lead to no good. Let me be the first to congratulate my friends on their safe return; nay, the Marquis is the very man to assist me in my present extremity. He must have influence at the Castle, and if he has not already left town—let me see," I said, taking up the paper, "arrived yesterday, the 26th, and this is 27th, and on his way to ——. I very much fear they have left by this night's train; but if he is fortunately still in town, I shall be successful yet. No time then to be lost." I opened my writing desk and dashed off the following lines:

MY DEAR LORD D.—I have only this moment learned, from the pages of the Irish Times, your arrival in town yesterday. Let me congratulate you all on your return to Ireland once more, and let me add the ignominious confession that this note of congratulation is dashed with selfishness, for I actually want you to do me a service, which, to be effective, does not brook delay. In a word, the post of —— is vacant, and is to be filled up in a few days. I am a candidate for office—have no interest; and I want you to throw yours into the scale on my behalf. You will doubtless be surprised at this, and why I seek such a post—(he had heard of my losses by death, but had not learned, at least from me, of the spoliation of my estate)—but I will tell you all to-morrow, if I am so fortunate as to find you still in town. I shall call at the Belton to-morrow, between twelve and one. I am terribly cut up in mind and body, and you will see but the shadow of my former self. My best and warmest regards and congratulations to the Marchioness and all yours. I trust Lord B—— is, ere this, perfectly recovered. Adieu, old friend, for the present. Yours, as ever, HECTOR BANCROFT."

I had written, enveloped and directed the above before I became aware that I had no messenger to dispatch to the Belton with it; and my object was to have it delivered that night, because if the Marquis were still in town, he would doubtless start by the early morning train, and then the letter would be sent after him, and in the interval, before any any answer could arrive, the post which I wanted to secure would have been given away. My landlady was an old person, very stupid and very deaf, and could not get me any messenger; and in this dilemma I at once formed the resolution of taking it myself to the hotel.

It was now nearly nine o'clock; both storm and rain had considerably abated. Although worn out with my day's exertion, I drew on my boots once more, donned a comfortable outsider, tied a muffler round my throat, and sallied forth.

Arrived at the Belton, my first inquiry was whether the Marquis was still there. He was; but the waiter to whom I addressed myself did not know whether he was in just then or not; however, he said he would take up the note, and if I waited a few minutes, he would let me know if the Marquis was in; at all events, he added, that he knew for a certainty that the Marjuis was to leave by the early morning train.

In my feverish anxiety to know if he were in and would really get my letter that night, I remained in the hall till the waiter should return, and he came back in a few minutes. The Marquis, he said, was above, and he had given him the letter. I thanked him for the service and was turning to depart, when a hasty and heavy footstep was heard on the stairs, and a well-remembered, manly, ringing voice, cried out, "Here, waiter, who brought this letter?"

"My Lord, here is the gentleman who brought it," replied the waiter.

"Inform Mr. Bancroft at once that I wish particularly to see him to night," said the Marquis. "I leave by the early train in the morning, and I want to see him at once. Is he well? How far is North Villa from here?" he said, looking at the address in the open note which he held in his hand. "Or stay, it might be better for me to go there at once. Quick, quick, get me a cab and instantly."

He stood at the foot of the stairs. I was a few yards from him, but somewhat in the shade, and I had my hat drawn well over my brows; I raised it, advanced to meet him, and stood face to face with my true-hearted friend. His hand was instantly locked in mine with a vice-like pressure.

"What, Bancroft, my dear fellow, is it indeed yourself? Why, bless my heart and soul what a glad surprise is this! Why did you not come up man, at once. Then turning fiercely on the waiter, "How dare you, sir, leave this gentleman standing in the——"

"Nay, my Lord, nay," said I returning the pressure of his hand with all the warmth I felt, "blame him not; it is my own fault, not his;" (he had indeed asked me to take a seet in the coffee-room;) "but while I waited to see if you were in, I wished for this night at least to remain unrecognized, and deferred the pleasure of an interview until to-morrow, when I should be able to converse with you; but since chance has found me out, I need hardly say with what pleasure I see you once more, and hold your hand in mine."

"My dear fellow, I am indeed delighted to see you," said his lordship. "Why, I spent hours in hunting for you yesterday; but come, come, I have a word to say to you."

I pointed to my cumberous and dripping garments, and hinted that I was not just then in presentable attire.

"Oh, as to that," said, he laughing gaily, "you need have no scruples of conscience. I am here all alone. The Marchioness, Bertram and all the ladies left town to-day for Castle B——, and I follow in the morning by the first train. So come—come up at once."

I hesitated no longer, but throwing my overcoat and hat to the waiter, followed my friend up to the drawing-room, where the bright flame of the wax-lights, the warm glow of the fire diffusing itself through the luxuriously-furnished apartment, and sundry richly-cut decanters on an elegant table, some of which still contained the ruby fluid, but two were nearly emptied, formed a most comfortable contrast to the plashing streets and angry gusts out of doors, and also furnished palpable and brilliant proofs that my friend was not in the least unmindful of his creature comforts.

"I see how it is," said he, smiling, when we were seated, "you are surprised to see me hermitizing here; but the fact is, I have been up to my eyes in law business the whole evening. I had several important matters to arrange before leaving to-morrow, and have had Dixon with me all the evening. You know Dixon, the attorney; a capital man of business is he as long as he keeps his head cool; but he has one failing—drinks like a fish, ecce signum, or rather signa, for he has nearly emptied both decanters himself; and such a seasoned cask is he, that he left only half an hour ago with head as cool and hand as steady as when he came. But I say, mon cher, let me have a full account of yourself since last we met. Ah, I heard the sad tale of your sorrows. I wrote, and the letter was returned by the post-office, with that ominous red-letter mark, 'Gone, left no address.'"

"My dear fellow," said he, as I finished the recital of my woes, "this indeed is terrible—terrible! Oh, why did you not tell me all? And you are fearfully cut up! But you must not give way; we must have you down to Castle B——; a few weeks among the preserves, and a few dashing runs with the beagles, will soon bring you round. But now for business. Let me see; the post, you say, is six hundred a year, and in the gift of the government. I am most intimate with the Lord-Lieutenant—nay he is under some personal obligations to me, and I feel confident that if he has not given a promise elsewhere, he will nominate my selection. This very night I will write him such a letter as will get you the berth, if he is unpledged; and if he unfortunately is pledged, make your mind easy, we will get you something as good, if not better."

"How can I sufficiently thank you?" I said.

"Tut, tut," said he "not a word on that score an' you love me. Why should there be a punctilio between friends? And I say, old fellow—the wine is with you. Pending these arrangements, and the reply of his excellency, you must allow me to be your temporary banker. Nay, nay," said he, seeing I made a motion of dissent, "I must and will have my way in this. Draw on me now, in the first instance, for two hundred pounds. I shall give you a check for the amount." he added, going to a cabinet on which was strewn a litter of papers, "which you can get cashed to-morrow; or, if you prefer it—and, indeed, on consideration, it might be more convenient for you, this being Saturday—I will give you the money. I never carry about with me more than ten or twenty pounds for present use, but I can get it from Heniky." He pulled the bell-handle as he spoke, and the waiter shortly appeared. "Is Mr. Heniky in the Hotel?"

"No, my Lord, he did not come in to-day."

"Is the cashier in the office?"

"Yes, my Lord, I think he is—that is if he has not left within the last few minutes."

"Be good enough to tell him that I want notes to the amount of two hundred pounds, and that I shall give him a check for the amount."

"Yes, my Lord. Certainly, my Lord."

"That fellow," said the Marquis, as the waiter withdrew, "for all his bows and cringing, would snub me to-morrow, if I were visited with any sudden reverse of fortune."

"The cashier had just left the office for the night, my Lord," said the black-coated functionary, re-appearing at the door, "I sent boots to bring him back. Ah, there he is now in the hall, and I will get your Lordship the notes in a moment."

"Thank you, that will do," said the Marquis.

"I see," said I, "you are determined to have it all your own way; and in accepting your generous offer, I candidly own that it is a great accommodation to me; but it is indeed unfair for me to keep you any longer, as you must be up betimes in the morning, and have doubtless many things to arrange to night; I will say adieu for the present, but when shall I see you again?"

"Au revoir, old fellow, au revoir," said he "I shall be in town again in a few days. I retain your address, and we shall then arrange about your coming down to the old house for a couple of months; for even if you get the appointment, I shall so manage that you may not enter on the stern duties of office until your health is perfectly re-established. A flush among the pheasants and a brush with the harriers, and then musty parchments and time-worn deeds."

"I feel indeed" said I, "that I should now be but sorry company for the brilliant circle at Castle

[CONCLUDED NEXT WEEK.]

NATURE OF THE GREAT PESTILENCES—THEIR SYMPTOMS AND EFFECTS UPON VICTIMS.

THE CHOLERA.

In almost all epidemics there have been certain premonitory symptons, called by some authors the first stage of disease, to which the name of the cholerine has been given; these consist of a general feeling of uneasiness and weakness, nausea, with diarrhea and perhaps vomiting; the dejections at first, though frequent are natural; but when the second stage or true cholera supervenes, in the course of a few hours, the evacuations become liquid, odorless, and resembling rice water; the strength is suddenly reduced, the muscles of the abdomen and limbs are painfully cramped; the pulse grows weak, the skin cold; the features assume a frightful cadaveric aspect; the cold and shrunken appearance of the skin indicates the stage of collapse; the urine is suppressed; the voice is husky; the mucous membranes of the eyes, nose and mouth are dry; the powers of life gradually fail, the intellect usually remaining unimpaired to the last; the facial expression is characteristic, the person resembling a living corpse, and indeed he is liable to die very suddenly, in the act of getting up, speaking, or drinking. In 20 to 24 hours death closes the scene, or reaction begins to take place; in favorable cases, the skin becomes warm and moist, the urine begins to flow, the secretions are re-established; the ejected matters becoma tinged with bile, and are diminished in quantity; the cramps cease, the thirst diminishes, the circulation begins to move freely, and the struggle between life and death is decided in favor of the former by a refreshing sleep. The rice-water discharges, the icy coldness, the disturbances of the circulation, the cramps, and the facies cholerica, present an assembly of systoms quite characteristic of this disease. In the most malignant epidemics the patient seems to be struck down at once, living but a few hours; in other cases the disease may be prolonged to days. The rice-water discharges have been found on analysis to contain the elements in which the blood is deficient, viz: serum, alkali, and the saline constituents; this has given origin to one favorite plan of treatment. Changes occur in the blood, this fluid becoming like tar or molasses in color and consistency, in proportion to the intensity and duration of the collapse; it is so thick that it will not in many cases flow from an opened artery; the serum is in less quantity than in healthy blood, and of higher specific gravity; the clot is in greater proportion, and is not reddened by oxygen on account of the small amount of saline matters; the amount of albumen is lessened, as also the fibrine, according to Thompson. The pathological appearances throw no light on the nature of the disease; the lividity of the skin disappears after death, and the temperature is said to rise a little; putrefaction takes place slowly, if the disease has run its usual duration; the stomach and intestinal tube have been found variously ejected, and the follicles remarkably developed; foreign physicians have laid great stress upon granular isolated pimples along the intestinal canal, and especially toward the end of the ileum, which are probably only the abnormally developed follicles or glandulæ; in the venous system there is found in the accumulation of thick black blood.

The nature of cholera is as yet quite undetermined, though plausible speculations are numerous; it has been remarked as an inflammation and an irritation of the digestive tube, as an affection of the sympathetic and spinal system of nerves, as a paralysis of the organs of circulation and of the intestines, as a disease of the blood itself from a miasmatic cause, as an affection of the intestinal absorbents, and as various combinations of the above disorders. In the great majority of cases the cause, whatever it be, acts on the vessels of the mucous membrane, causing them to part with the watery portions of the blood, which becomes in consequence too thick for proper circulation; this alone would explain the lividity, the coldness, the arrest of the secretions, and the collapse; but in some epidemics the morbific cause is so violent as to produce a fatal collapse from the beginning, before any unnatural discharges have appeared; it would seem, therefore, that the nervous system is that which is primarily affected, and probably the sympathetic ganglia which preside over the vital actions of the minute vessels of the intestines. An equal mystery and variety of opinion prevails as to the causes of cholera; the air has been tortured in vain to reveal the secret; no sideral, telluric, magnetic, electric, or appreciable atmospheric changes have been satisfactorily connected with its endemic or epidemic appearance; animalcular and fungous growths have been equally unable to account for it; of its primary cause we know no more than we do of that of small pox, yellow fever, or any epidemic disease. But there are certain predisposing causes which doubtless favor its propagation, such as personal and public uncleanliness, errors in diet, drunkenness and misery; fear, which always exists during fatal epidemics, in this instance amounting to choleraphobia, impresses many with the idea of drugging, who thereby render themselves mentally and physically more liable to its attack. Unprofessional people are prone to believe in contagion, and accordingly most persons perhaps think that cholera is contagious; physicians, even, were once divided in their opinions on this point, but probably at the present time very few could be found who would maintain its contagiousness. When great numbers of persons are exposed to the same epidemic influence, the idea of contagion is the most natural one to account for the occurrence of many, in a limited district; but the whole history of the progress of the cholera for the last 40 years shows conclusively that, though endemic and epidemic, it is not a contagious disease. Some courageous physicians have gone so far as to innoculate themselves with the blood, bile, and discharges of patients in every stage of the disease, and without any ill consequences.

THE PLAGUE.

It is believed that in this disease a specific poison produces certain specific actions, preceded, accompanied or followed, by fever. The more specific actions of this poison are the induction of a state similar to that of typhus fever, and a singular enlargement of the heart, liver or spleen. But the most constant action of this poison is on the lymphatic system generally, as in typhus fever—the cervical, inguinal, auxilary, and mesenteric glands being for the most part enlarged or otherwise inflamed, and giving rise to characteristic buboes. The areolar tissue also appears to be a seat of the specific action of the poison, it being frequently affected with carbuncles; Every organ and tissue of the body is likewise covered with petecchiæ, and often the seat of hemorrhagic effusion. The poison of the plague producing those disordered functions of the great nervous centres which constitute the phenomena of fever, either of a low or active character, is sometimes so severe as to destroy the patient in a few hours. The form of plague most destructive exists, like cholera, without its characteristic eruptions or other external marks considered pestilential. The vital principle seems in such cases to be suddenly extinguished. But more commonly the disease is preceded by lassitude, loss of strength, general uneasiness and mental anxiety, to which shivering, headache, vertigo, and vomiting soon succeed. Then appear bubo, carbuncles and petecchiæ, preceded or followed by delirium or stupor, too often ending in death. In mild attacks, the fever is slight; the buboes suppurate, the carbuncles are superficial, and the patient recovers. In other cases, there is a black vomit, diarrhea, black tongue and buboes, carbuncles, and petecchiæ. There is a chance of recovery, provided the strength of the patient can be kept up a sufficient time.

But, in more aggravated attacks, there is almost entire annihilation of intellect, and extreme prostration of strength, with frequently an absence of swellings and eruptions. This form of the disease prevails almost exclusively at the beginning of the epidemic, and is generally fatal. The bubo is considered as of good augury for the patient, and its suppurration is a sure sign of recovery. It never mortifies, whereas the carbuncles are prone to become gangrenous. The plague is a very malignant typhus, and some of the causes which to its propogation are the crowded state of the population, foul dwellings and imperfect nourishment. It attacks the poor in preference to the rich, women rather than men, patients laboring under disease in preference to the healthy, the feeble rather than the robust, the intemperate and dissipated rather than those of correct habits.

HOW CHOLERA MAY BE TREATED.

It may be said that cholera in its first stage may always be successfully treated, unless the system is weakened by other diseases, or by some special cause. The Rev. Dr. Hamlin's Cholera mixture—equal parts, by weight, of liquid laudanum, spirits of camphor and tincture of rhubarb—has been used here not only by him, but by many others, with the greatest success in meeting the first stages of the disease. If diarrhea is carefully kept off by the use of this mixture, the danger of cholera is very slight. In the second stage of relapse and cramps, clear brandy taken internally, mustard plasters and other means of keeping up internal heat by friction, etc., are very often used with success. There is always hope in cholera until the patient is actually dead; and in severe cases, recovery often depends upon the persistency and energy with which the disease is met and attacked at every stage.

GEORGE FRANCIS TRAIN AND HIS RECOLLECTIONS.

Andrew Johnson is no toady to men of nation. John Bright is no toady to English aristocracy or American democracy. Johnson—the shrewd statesman—is far-sighted. Would he pass by Montalembert, Labolaye, Eugene Peletan, Victor Hugo, and Garibaldi, as staunch friends in France as Bright in England? Would he openly insult Newman Hall, M. P.'s Baxter, Foster, Potter, Taylor, Stansfield, and the Duke of Argyle, who have fought our fight as valiantly as Bright, by inviting him alone? Bright—the English Democrat—is also far-sighted. Would he run the gauntlet of American criticism by embarking on a Government war ship, as if he were a royal prince.

What has he done more than the distinguished French and English gentlemen before named that he should become the Lafayette of the present rebellion.

Was it not enongh to see our toady Loyal Leaguers (the Carriage Bribe Committee) drag the American flag through the dirt at the heels of Goldwin Smith.

Possibly some of our toady Ministers (those who hang about the Prince of Wales for autographs to sell at American Sanitary Fairs) may have suggested it, but it is hardly likely that the President would do so undignified an act. The time is ripe to abolish expensive foreign missions. America requires only commercial agents abroad, not ornamental diplomats. Europe introduced the custom as an aristocratic spy system. America, of course, always copies England. Will this base imitation system never end? Flunkeyism is so strong with us—toadyism is so deep-rooted—I am afraid that Bright's disease will become an epidemic.

Who will receive him? Of course Phillips, Garrison, Beecher and Sumner will turn somersaults in front of all the Union Leagues in the country in his honor.

Is he not the great George Thompson champion of Abolition? All who love the lazy negro and hate the hard-working Irish, of course will be in ecstasy. Our Democratic Tray and Republican Blanche and Sweetheart (the World, the Flesh and the Devil) have already sounded their editorials of welcome.

Will the New England cotton manufacturers and Pennsylvania iron-makers turn out to welcome their old financial enemy, who, with Cobden, has worked so long to destroy them by his pestilential doctrine of free trade? Will our National bankers and holders of two thousand millions of Government bonds receive, with "loud and continued cheers," the English champion free-trader, when free-trade is only another name for repudiating the debts they hold.

Will the eighteen hundred thousand voters who opposed abolition be likely to give a cordial welcome to this great chief of abolition? Will the four millions of Irish become enthusiastic in their welcome over this English Exeter Hall chief, who believes the negro is their equal? Corcoran and the Sixty-ninth refused to parade in honor of the Prince of Wales. Will that brave regiment turn out for the Loyal Leaguers? Will the eight millions of Southerners turn out to welcome their English oratorical enemy and commercial friend? (Did he not, while defaming the slaveholder in Exeter Hall, pay seventy-five cents per pound to Fazy for his long staple, Sea Island cotton, for his Rockdale factory?)

The age of toadyism lies with the cable, on the ocean's bed, there let it lie.

Coming, as a private gentleman, friendly to our cause, Mr. Bright would find a host to welcome him, but no true friend (and I claim to be one, for he was very kind to me in England) would recommend the great peace advocate to visit America as a partisan in a national war ship.

Surely it must be a hoax. Surely Johnson is too cautious to invite; Bright too prudent to accept such an un-American invitation.

Sincerely,
GEO. FRANCIS TRAIN.

DEATH OF A REVOLUTIONARY CENTENARIAN.—The death of Michael Winter, a veteran of the revolution, is announced as having taken place on the 8th ultimo, at Darien, Wisconsin. He died at the advanced age of one hundred and two years, two months, and ten days. He was a drummer boy in the War of Independence, and preserved, to the day of his death, as a sacred reminiscence, the same old drum with which he animated the souls of our gallant sires in battle. This drum Mr. Winter bequeathed to his son, J. W. Winter, residing in San Francisco. The dead old hero has left himself a roll of honor. He has had fifteen children, eleven by his first wife, and four by his second. One of his sons served during the Mexican War, and thirteen of his grandsons served in the Union army during the war of the Rebellion. Mr. Winter was regular and temperate in his habits and manner of life. He always retired to rest at nine o'clock in the evening, and rose before the sun. He never saw but one sick day in his life. His death was very sudden—a pain in the head being the only premonition of his death.

LARGE numbers of our citizens, says the San Jose Mercury, are now rusticating along the coast, (all the way from Halfmoon Bay, to Monterey,) at the Hot Springs, in the mountains and elsewhere, having a healthful time generally. They usually in family parties of from ten to twenty or thirty persons—men, women and children—provided with teams and all necessary camp fixings. The country abounds in game, (rabbits, quail, etc.) and in the mountains, deer, grizzlies, lions and wildcats are numerous. Along the coast, surf fishing and clam bakes afford most pleasurable pastime. The sportsman and the pleasure-seeker can here drink [illegible] bliss.

DUTCH FLAT ENQUIRER.

SATURDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 7, 1865.

Now, by St. Paul, the work goes bravely on,
The Stars and Stripes are up for Liberty,
Flag of the Nation--Talisman of the Free,
Curs'd be the hand that dares to pull thee down.

REGULAR UNION NOMINATION:
For Justice of the Supreme Court,
S. W. SANDERSON.

NOMINATIONS FOR TOWNSHIP No. 4,

For Justices of the Peace,
E. AUBURY, J. H. NEFF.

YE EDITOR PRO TEM.

OUR EDITOR is on the sick-list this week—laid up with fever 'n ague—and the responsibility of compiling and editing the ENQUIRER rests again with ye ancient printer, and not being much of a writist, are somewhat at a loss for a subject upon which to entertain the patrons of this paper. We (how nice it is to write we) are not posted on the facts, or we might give our li-billious friend Arnold a shot under the short ribs, as is the weekly custom of our caustic boss, so the Arnold faction must rest content with this passing notice. By the way, we have hit upon a happy thought, and one which we we think many of our cotemporaries might avail themselves of to good purpose, i. e., when you have little to write about, write little, and thus save many readers the tedious labor of perusing long-winded articles upon obtuse topics, and longer winded and more tedious articles without any topic at all, and having seized upon this idea, like a drowning man upon a straw, we intend to put it into immediate practice, for in all good truth there is nothing more to say, unless we go into a discussion of the politics of the day, to do which it would be absolutely necessary to change the policy of the paper, for all here know that upon the great issues of the day, as regarded from his stand-point, Boust, Esq., has had his say—saying, in the aforesaid say, about all he had to say on the political issues now before the public at large, and the denizens of Teutonic Plain in particular. So we will leave the generous public to "linger in blissful repose" until some good or evil fortune sees fit to waft them a "well" editor who can atune his pen to find an answering chord in the "buzzoms" of his many readers.

MR. ALBERT E. REDSTONE, among his many virtues, possesses the sublime art of type-setting; of this fact he has repeatedly made us aware by helping out of a "drag"—this week to good purpose. By reference to pol. ann. it will be seen that this gentleman is an Independent Union Candidate for Justice of the Peace for this township. Were he the regular nominee of the party, this item would be much longer. At all events there can be no harm in returning him thanks for his kind assistance.

THE arrival of quite a number of the boys from Summit City, a few days ago, and the intended departure of Messrs. Silver and Blackmore for the East, brought together a lively and interesting party on last Thursday evening at the Golden Eagle Hall, upon which occasion every participant vied to make it the most pleasant impromptu dance of the season. Some strangers were present, who spoke highly of the attention and courtesy which they received.

SPECIAL.—We would call the attention of our readers to the Grover & Baker Machines. Their reputation is too well established for us to attempt a word in their favor, but would advise any person wanting a reliable Family Sewing Machine, to investigate the merits of these before buying. "A word to the wise is sufficient."

HERMANN, Wizard and Ventriloquist, gave two of his parlor entertainments in this place during the past week, the second of which was well attended and gave general satisfaction.

By reference to the "birth" place in this number it will be observed that the population of Dutch Flat has increased two since our last issue. Long may they wave.

THERE has been no alarm of fire at the National Hotel this week, hence ye editor pro tem. is an item short—no fault of ours.

THE WIRTZ TRIAL.

Our Eastern exchanges come to us flooded with the reports of the trial of Wirtz of Andersonville. On the 11th of September Felix De Labourne of the Seventy-niuth New York, testified, among other things, of Captain Wirtz firing two shots at two men drawing water. He said one of them was in a dying condition. Wirtz accompanied the act with the exclamation, "That's the way I get rid of you d——d sons of ——."

Witness related other perpetrations of cruelty, such as keeping men for long periods without water, putting men in stocks, torturing them with ball and chain, gagging and hunting by hounds. He saw two men killed at the dead line.

As for himself, when he was conveyed to prison he weighed 158 pounds, but when he left he weighed only 90 pounds, and was a mere skeleton. He owed the saving of his life to Dr. Bates, an acting assistant surgeon at the hospital.

Owing to the starved condition of the prisoners rats were a great delicacy. Dr. Bates managed to get them something to eat and therefore no more rats were caught.

Rev. Father Hamilton, of the Roman Catholic Church, residing at Macon, testified in relation to his acting as missionary at Andersonville prison, and gave many points of interest, including the distressing condition of the prisoners, sickness, suffering and great mortality.

The witness stated that General Howell Cobb asked him what he would recommend should be done. He advised that officer to parole all the prisoners on their word of honor and send them to Tallahassee, Florida. He gave General Cobb a particular account of prison affairs.

Publications on this subject appeared in all the newspapers in the South.

Judge Advocate Chipman: The law protects you from disclosing the secrets of the confessional.—Please state, if you feel authorized to do so, to what cause sick men under your ministrations ascribed their dying condition.

Father Hamilton: I cannot answer that question, for the confessional is one of the most sacred and inviolable of our institutions. I do not decline to answer because I want to take any advantage, but because outsiders might charge that I had violated the confessional—therefore I respectfully decline to answer.

THE Stockton Independent announces that premiums will be awarded by the Agricultural Society for ladies' horsemanship. Quite a number of ladies will contest for the prizes. Following is the programme: For the best lady equestrienne, citizen's premium, $50; for the second best, silver pitcher (offered by the President of the Society); for the third best, Society's premium, $20. The test to be gracefulness of carriage, elegance and ease in the saddle, confidence and skill in the management of the horse. No rapid or dangerous riding allowed.

LETTER FROM IOWA HILL.

IOWA HILL, Oct. 2, 1865.

EDITOR ENQUIRER:—The firm of Juaquin, Sheppard, Schinderhannes & Co. has suspended business. They may, however, commence again when Mrs. Vigilance retires, and solicit pedestrians to contribute their mite for the benefit of the brotherhood in the vicinity of Cape Horn. The proprietor of the "break-neck" road has been rushing about town in a frantic condition, exclaiming, "Who is Ike?" to the amusement of all our citizens. The expressman declares honestly that he is not afraid of any man. Well, I am willing to take it all back, only come a little more regularly with the mails, and I'll believe you. We have another road leading from this place to Wisconsin Hill, which would be death to a certain toll-road if the bridge was only repaired. Why do our citizens not go to work and re-build the same, and defy the scoundrels to burn it down again? The people of Wisconsin Hill, besides a number of mining companies will gladly contribute their share, and we should certainly not stand back. Our business men should see to it and have it re-built, as it is to their interest.

A certain gentleman, living not many miles from here, and evidently just returned from Excelsior, got up on a stump early in the morning and screached at the top of his lungs, "Ho, Jo!" to the astonishment of all who heard him. A physician was sent for, and his disease was pronounced to be "quartz on the brain." A number of men have returned from the quartz region and say "it's cool up there." I have a memoranda of a number of assays made at the office of Kiehn, Hemme & Co., San Francisco; also some made by the celebrated "cold-stove and iron-rod" assayer whose dokimastio laboratory is situated at Dutch Flat. One made at the former office I will state for the benefit of your readers: "Assay No. 307, Excelsior District: 240 grains ore—gold, $5,430 35 per ton; silver, $8 68 per ton; copper, 24 per cent; nickel and cobalt, considerable; antimony and arsenic, considerable; iron pirytes, some; flour spar, also kalk spar, the copper predominating, chiefly in yellow pyrites and red oxyd. From the above you will perceive that the ore is intermingled a great deal with base metal, and I believe "Peatner's clorination process" would be the best for such ore. I have many more assays from there with less results.

The Morning Star Co. cleaned up the nice little amount of thirty-two ounces, the result of two days' crushing—this certainly speaks well, and I shall not be surprised if this claim eclipses the famous North Star. There is plenty of such ground left around here. Only drive the tunnels ahead and give us plenty of water.

I have noticed that you are determined not to publish anything hereafter reflecting upon the character of any one; but, sir, there are men who impose upon the people and the laws of our country with impunity, and in my opinion, it is not only your benefit; in this case, but your duty to publish in full all such individuals, in order that the public may guard aaginst them in future. A gentleman calling himself Mr. Heineman came here last winter and pretended to be an agent for numerous foreign journals, also for the San Francis o Abend Post. The last named paper was liberally subscribed for by our german citizens, also the Liebcig Illustrirte, Gartenlaub and Kladderadatsch (the last named is a comic journal) published at Berlin. This gentleman, who is a disgrace to the nation he belongs to, collected all the money he could get—at Wisconsin Hill, the sum of thirteen dollars, and I understand considerable all around here, and told the subscribers if anything was amiss to write to R. F. Pries (no doubt a petty dealer in stationery) on Dupont street, San Francisco. Of course the Abend Post was sent regularly, also the comic journal; but strange as it may seem, the others were not sent. Letters were written as directed, and answered by Pries that everything was all right and the papers would be sent; but it is now near a year and no papers yet. In my opinion this is prima facia evidence of intentional fraud. I would warn the Germans to look out for Mr. Heineman. This "cuss" has also swindled me out of a few dollars. The editor of the Abend Post will probably be surprised to learn that he did not improve the reputation of his paper on this divide by employing a man like Heineman as agent, as no copy of the Abend Post is to be seen any more on Iowa Hill. My name and those of responsible parties are at their convenience, if desired.

The children of the Wisconsin Hill School and a number of citizens of this place and Wisconsin Hill had a grand picnic last Friday, in a grove, and enjoyed the forest green and the fragrance of the "last rose of summer" to their hearts' content. The following were the exercises during the day: Song, by the school; Grang, old poem, G. Irish; Childhood's Hours, Mary Kavanaugh; The Boy and the Lark, J. and G. Spencer; The three Graces, Mary Liddle, Sophie DeCruse, Emma Lipp; The Use of Tobacco, Frank Kavahaugh; Recitation, Miss Julia A. Spencer; Mrs. Grist, Mary Steele; School is Out, George Armstrong, Dialogue, Hartley Lipp and Mary Armstrong; Advertisement, Albert Lipp; The Dew Drop, Mary Armstrong; Song, the School; The Little Sunbeam, Miss Ada Irish; Dialogue, Miss Mary Irish, Wm. Lipp and S. Irish; The Orphan Flower Girl, Hatty Lipp; The Last Night at Home, Lizzy Laddle, Isabel Steele, G. Cumming; My Cottage Home, Miss Jennet Liddle; Echo Chorus, five schollars; September, Miss Annie Steele; The American Flag, Wm. Lipp; Vacation Song, by the school. They concluded with a dance in the evening; at the house of Mr. Irish, on Wisconsin Hill. The music was charming. "Ole" is nowhere. All enjoyed themselves excepting myself—having been outdone for a partner—though I noticed o pretty, rosy cheeked (and not a black; but) blue-eyed Susie "taking sly glances at me." Yes; indeed! If I don't "pop the question," and if her ma and pa agree, follow your advice, my name will not be IKE.

THE Marysville Appeal says that T. W. Lockard of Sutter, whose ranch of 1,750 acres, part of which was sown last season—lies about twelve miles south of Yuba City, and on the Feather rivr bottoms, has now piled up on his farm, 20,000 bushels of barley, to which is to be added 17,000 bushels when threshed. As a storehouse for this grain, Mr. Lockard is building a brick granary, 60 by 80, which will afford a capacity of over 50,000 bushels. This grain will be stored in this new granary, and remain there, says Mr. Lockard, "until the price of barley will pay for hauling it to market." Mr. Lockard is one of the thrifty farmers of Sutter. He has many head of fat cattle, sheep and swine. Last year he had the bad luck to lose his house by fire. On the site now stands a fine brick residence, with out houses to match. Mr. Lockard understands farming, and either "holds or drives."

A PLEA FOR THE BEARD.—The Eclectic Medical Journal argues in favor of men wearing a full beard and among other things says: "What would be said of him who would shave off his eyebrows, or pull out his eyelashes, or have his head shaved all over? Such a practice would be pronounced uncouth, unreasonable, unhealthy, and unnecessarily wrong; yet if the hair of the head pertains to the laws of life and nature, who dare say the beard has a less important office to fill?

A Paris thief was lately detected in the act of breaking open a maid-servant's box. When f und guilty, he apologized for being discovered in such a petty robbery, assuring the Judge and the public that he only entered into it to keep his hand in practice for a great coup he was meditating.

LETTER FROM SACRAMENTO.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 6, 1865.

FRIEND BOUST:—The reason I delayed until to-day my promised letter is that I hoped that I might indite a message that would please you better, for posted over our town I saw for days a flaming three sheet poster—conveying to us the idea that August Buislay was a boaster—for he proclaimed that he would do what we might call a modern wonder by going in the air to where old Vulcan forged his bolts of thunder. His carriage, but a large balloon to be with heated air inflated, a bag of wind whose length and strength and buoyant powers were underrated, all from the fact that twice before attempts had been quite unavailing. He was to try it one time more so all looked for continued failing. But early Tuesday morn ten French gentlemen were congregated on sixth and L, where lots of boys soon gathered, and for hours waited, while the aforesaid ten were then their ropes and poles &c. preparing, which at the cost of labor great, and not a small amount of swearing at last was finished, and a crowd, puffed up with hope and expectation, soon saw the mighty canvass swell with gas instead of indignation, what had looked like a long lank bag like Aaron's gourd kept growing bigger till hughest modern crinolines beside it cut a sorry figure, and gaining strength with every breath the monster reared and pitched and bounded as restless as a wild mustang in some strong high corrall impounded, and while, to break the many ties which bound her down, she tossed and fluttered, from Bonquett's barn, a man in tights came and in French some words he muttered; the ropes were cut and up she flew, and August Busilay went up with her. A long protracted shout went up from all who were attracted thither. The best mile ever Norfolk made was slow compared with balloon flying, yet August hung to his trapaz while women all commencd acrying, the brave aeronaut the while kept up his wondrous feats of turning at a prodidious risk of life, unequalled fame we saw him earning, now hanging by his feet a feat that made the crowd beneath him shudder, and now suspended by his neck he seemed to his balloon a rudder, now quite a mile above the ground a swiming frog he imitated, nor looked he larger to the crowd, so greatly was he elevated. I saw him there and felt for him both from my heart and in my pocket. I knew his fame as well as he had gone up higher than a rocket, I feared that he might fall and wished that Jeff or Wirtz the flight had taken, for then, nobody would have cared if either failed to save his bacon. But glad were all the crowd to see the daring hero returning, for every bosom in the ranks with hope and fear the while was burning. Down, down to earth she gaily came, her dauntless living load conveying, and cheers on cheers soon rent the air from those who were so lately praying. He landed safely, and such joy as was so plainly manifested, you'd thought him everybody's son so greatly were they interested. The men, their money showered on him, and matrons, maids and blooming misses, could they have got to him, would have nearly smothered him with kisses; Cookes walking out to see the seals, though it met general approbation, was nothing in comparison to this aerial navigation; there's many wonders I have seen in other places I have been to, but never did I see a sight like that to day in Sacramento, it beat the world so all declare, and all are right in thus declaring. The eighth great wonder of the world was Busilay when he took his airing.

MART. TAYLOR.

REPORTING AT THE STATE FAIRS.—We give publication to the following from the Spirit of the Times in order to extend the truth and work a reform:

With this we close our report of the proceedings of the Twelfth Annual Fair of the State Agricultural Society. We had intended to make it elaborate and worthy the character of the occurrences taking place there, but we regret to say that owing to the total disregard, by the Directors of the Society, of what was due to those who had taken the trouble to visit Sacramento, for the purpose of giving publicity to what took place, we were deprived as well as the balance of the representatives of the Press, of every privilege that would conduce to the preparation of a proper summary of events. No accommodation whatever was provided for the press but like cattle they were huddled together in an indiscriminate crowd on the lower floor of the judge's stand, where it was next to an impossibility to see, hear or take notes. When a Society like that which has just closed its Fair at Sacramento, issues invitations to the press to attend its annual exhibitions the object is to receive at the hands of those responding full and detailed reports of what takes place. Such being the case, it is nothing more than gross disrespect to treat them as was the case last week at Sacramento. So intolerable a nuisance did the neglect become, that after the second day several of the representatives of the press abandoned the place entirely, and did what they could in the way of reporting from any spot they could obtain, and from whence a sight could be had.

The stand erected for the special accommodation of reporters, when Jerome C. Davis was President of the Society, was wholly occupied by a crowd of no practical benefit whatever to the institution, while those who could really be of use were left to take care of themselves. The whole affair was discreditable to the State Society, and without a shadow of excuse to palliate it. I they do not desire to have their Fairs reported, say so, and put a stop to issuing invitations which are only intended as empty compliments; but if the contrary is the case let the proper arrangements be made to facilitate the labors of those having that object in view. Neither "Mum" "Figaros" or "Anderson's Solace" have any attractions for us and having no desire to enter the judges' stand we suggest that as great improvements are to be made in Union Park course and its surroundings, that a sufficient space in the center of the grand stand, directly opposite the score, be arranged and fitted up for the use of representatives of the Press, with table, chairs, paper, pencils, &c., the whole of which would cost about $5 per day at extent. Let it be a regular pen, with a door to the entrance, and with a guardian who will do his duty as faithfully as policeman Isaacs did during the whole week of the Fair, and then there will be no cause of complaint. But as it was last it was a positive disgrace, and the result of it was that adequate records were not made of the very best racing ever done in California or in the United States.

EXCELSIOR.—The Summit City correspondent of the Carson Appeal writes as follows to that paper concerning matters in Excelsior District:

"As the cold weather approaches, many of the residents are preparing to leave, yet a large number will probably remain through the winter. I learn that the Excelsior Company, Winton & Co. and the California Company will carry forward work upon their claims, and the latter two companies in their mills, without cessation. Others will doubtless do the same; in fact, it is said to be no colder here than at Carson. The snow will probably be more abundant, but under proper shelter no difficulty need be experienced. McFarland & Co., Hawley, Fredericks & Co. and Judge Alvord are erecting sawmills around Meadow Lake and were progressing rapidly with the same, and will be able within the ensuing three weeks to furnish between fifty and sixty thousand feet of lumber daily. Judge Alvord thinks he will start up next week. He arrived with machinery on the 15th instant, and expects to saw the first log. This mill exhibits t e manner in which enterprises are carried forward away up in Excelsior.

A WRITER in the Portland Advertiser is endeavoring to prove that Portland ought to have as many inhabitants and do as large a business as Boston, but fails fails from petty jealousies and animosities which would disgrace a country village.

FROM IDAHO.—A gentleman of Unionville, Humboldt county, Nevada, who has been on a visit to Idaho, has called at the Register office, and represents other places in Idaho quiet, but Idaho City very lively—plenty of gold dust going. But the long, dreary Winter has already commenced; snow on the ground, and weather very cold. In the Boise Basin no water for mining purposes to be had, and those who work claims there must wait from now till June for water. About that time the snow will soften a little and times will be lively. The diggings (where not already exhausted,) are rich, as they ought to be, in a country of almost perpetual Winter.

YELLOW JACKET.—The Virginia Enterprise says that under the efficient management of John B. Winters, the present Superintendent, the Yellow Jacket mine is turning out bullion at a rate calculated to make even old Washoeits "open wide their peepers." Yesterday morning the company sent away the bullion resulting from the first run of their new mill, consisting of thirty-nine bars, worth $74,000. They are raising about two hundred tons of ore per day, with any quantity in sight, and at their own mill are reducing ninety tons daily. The Yellow Jacket will make many more such shipments.

MOTHERS OF OUR LAND, are you suffering from Debility, Nervousness, Palpitations, Weaknesses, Flows Loss of appetite, Costive, Dyspeptic, Pain in the Back, Fainting, Sick Headache, Goneness? UNITED STATES 7-30 LOAN.

BY AUTHORITY OF THE SECRETARY OF THE Treasury, the undersigned has assumed the General Subscription Agency for the sale of United States Treasury Notes, bearing seven and three-tenths percent. interest per annum, known as the SEVEN-THIRTY LOAN.

These Notes are issued under date June 15th, 1865, and are payable three years from that time, in currency, or are convertible, at the option of the holder, into

United States 5-20 Six per cent.

GOLD BEARING BONDS

These bonds are now worth a premium of nine per cent. including gold interest from November, which makes the actual profit on the 7-30 loan at current rates, including interest, about 10 per cent. per annum, besides its EXEMPTION FROM STATE AND MUNICIPAL TAXATION, WHICH ADDS FROM ONE TO THREE PER CENT. MORE, according to the rate levied on other property. The interest is payable in currency semi-annually, by coupons attached to each note which may be cut off and sold to any bank or banker.

The interest amounts to

One cent per day on a $50 note.
Two cents per day on a $100 note.
Ten cents per day on a $500 note.
Twenty cents per day on a $1,000 note.
One dollar per day on a $5,000 note.

Notes of all denominations named will be promptly furnished upon receipt of subscriptions. This is now offered by the Government, and it is confidently expected that its superior advantages will make it the Great Popular Loan of the People.

THE ONLY LOAN IN MARKET

Less than $300,000,000 of the loan authorized by the last Congress, are now on the market.

This amount at the rate at which it is being absorbed, will all be subscribed for within four months, when the notes will undoubtedly command a premium, as has uniformly been the case on closing the subscriptions to other Loans.

In order that citizens of every town and section of the country may be afforded facilities for taking the loans, the National Bank, State Banks, and Private Bankers throughout the country have generally agreed to receive subscriptions at par. Subscribers will select their own agents, in whom they have confidence, and who only are to be responsible for the delivery of the notes for which they receive orders.

POLITICAL CHANGES.

The party slogan, "the Union as it was," can be framed and hung up in our parlors as an ornamental record. The political changes inaugurated by a four years' war—bought at the immense sacrifice of half a million of the best men of the best races, and half the value of the property of the country—cannot be stayed. The political as well as geographical divisions of the Nation, so long familiar to the American people, will soon pass away. One might as well contend that physical convulsions occur without changing the crust of the earth as to insist that the late political revolutions will leave the United States as it was in 1861. It was "North and South"—it is to be "East and West." The war has entirely destroyed the political power of the South; which has from the adoption of the constitution ruled the land. Her political wand passes to the West—to the great States growing into power and opulence by their rich mines and agricultural lands. This side of the great Mississipi, a score of immense, wealthy and powerful and powerful States growing into power—political and commercial. West of the Mississippi lies more than one-half of the territory forming the United States, heretofore isolated, but soon to be united to the East by the modern highways—railroads. The West is inferior to the East in nothing but capital and population, aud these are fast seeking a place in the West. The capital of the East, and the population of the South, driven out by the war, will meet in the Pacific States. To the latter will be added a large share of foreign emigration.

Here is a field for the study of politicians and statesman higher than the selfish question of whether the colored man shall enjoy the privilege of suffrage or not, or the jealousies and prejudices of race and color. Will the cis-Mississippi region, the master of commerce, capital, politics, and the seat of learning and intelligence, work harmonious with its trans-Mississippi offspring? The question of chattel slavery can never mar their harmonious action. Can complications of any kind arise beyond reconciliation? Can the Pacific States, in their trade with Asia, South America and the Islands, and the Atlantic States, with the trade of Europe, harmoniously gather the wealth of the world and pour it into a common center? Will there be fanatics in the East, and fanatics in the West, who will sooner or later preach division? The manufactures of the East will for a long time continue to supply the West; but this will not last many years. We shall soon become exporters instead of importers. When the interests of trade ceases to bind us as one nation, what then? The answer is reserved for the future. Some say let the future take care of the future, while we deal with the present. The social diversities and prejudices which arrayed the North against the South, or the South against the North, can never prevail between the East and West. We are cosmopolitan. The free institutions which built up the East, are predominant in the West. Profiting by the calamities and miseries of the late civil war, let us all work and pray for the indivisiblity of the American Republic.—Marysville Appeal.

WISE THIEVES STEAL AND COMPROMISE.—Last summer a bank clerk in New York stole $100,000. He lost the money by "fighting the tiger." He then called upon a lawyer and informed him that he was a ruined man, and thought of suicide. This led to the following dialogue: "How much does your defalcation amount to?" "$100,000." "Got any of it left?" "Not a cent." "That's bad, you have nothing to work with." "What's to be done?" "You must return to your desk and abstract another $100,000." "What must I do that for?" "To preserve your character and save you from going to the State Prison. With the $100,000 you are to steal to-morrow I intend to compromise with the bank. Your stealings after to-morrow will amount to $200,000. I will call at the bank and confess your offense; I will represent myself as your heart-broken uncle, 'honest but poor;' I will offer the bank $50,000 to hush up the matter. The bank will accept. This will leave $50,000 to divide betwen you and me—that is $25,000 apiece. With this sum you can retire from business." The young man listened and took on wisdom. He doubled his defalcation and compromised as the lawyer said he should. He is now worth $250,000, and is counted "one of the most respectable gentlemen in the city of New York."—Ex.

THE Pacific Railroad Company have concluded to pierce the summit of the Sierra Nevadas with a tunnel about fifteen hundred feet long, as thereby the grade can be kept about one hundred feet lower. Chas. Crocker has gone to the Summit to arrange for the construction of laborer's camps at each end of the proposed tunnel. Work on the tunnel will be commenced immediately, and prosecuted day and night with three shifts of workmen, until completed. It will take about one year to finish it, by which time the company expect to have the iron horse there ready to pass through.—Enterprise.

IT is estimated that in the last census returns that there are 219 establishments for the manufacturing of men's furnishing goods in the United States, which represent a capital of $2,326,500. The material thus made up costs $3,920,607, and employs 258 male and 1,568 female operators. The combined product of these manufactures is represented at $7,218,790.

Governor Parson Brownlow, in a recent letter says of John Bell, "He is ten years older in appearance than when the war began. His teeth are out, and that effects his speech. His hair and whiskers are very gray, and he is very much stooped, and leans upon his staff like an old man is expected to do."

At Colyton, in the west of Scotland, a man has in his possession the unburied corpse of his mother, who died five years ago. When she died he had a leaden coffin made, with a glass plate let in. He deposited the coffin in a shed, and from time to time goes there to look at the face of his mother.

MME. AGATHA STATES.—The Bulletin states that our California prima donn has closed an engagement of six years with the proprietor of the Theater Royal of Madrid, by the terms of which she is to sing successively, and it is to be hoped successfully, at Madrid, Paris, London and St. Petersburg.

Thirty-six years ago the entire population of Chicago, Ill., consisted of nine married couples, an old man and eleven children. According to the census for 1865, her present population is 177,965.

The Western widows are calling indignation meetings with reference to the advent of Massachusetts virgins. The male persuasion is too scarce for the home market without importations.

"Not for many years," says the Indian correspondent of the London Times, "has such a terrible heat been felt as that which is now afflicting India." We have still much to be thankful for.

A sheep swam ashore on Rye Beach lately, supposed from an island seven miles distant. A distinguished visitor at the Beach suggested it might be a hydraulic ram.

A SCOUNDREL PUNISHED.—If there is an incarnate fiend more infamous than another, it is the man who attempts to bring ruin upon a woman. A case has been recently brought to our notice in which one J. S. Danford attempted to bring worse than death upon a girl about fifteen years of age in this city. An obscene picture, upon the back of which was written an invitation for a meeting, was placed in the Post Office, directed to the girl, but it happened to get into the hands of the father. It was signed "More manners that brains," and contained a most disgustingly obscene picture. The parent determined, if possible, to find the author, and for this purpose wrote a note, stating that the family would be out Sunday from 11 to 3 o'clock, and inviting the fellow to come to the house at that time. The letter was so worded that the recipient could never tell where to go, unless he was the author of the note to the girl, and was signed, "From you know who." On Sunday last, the father of the girl, after telling his daughter of the conduct of the rascal cut a good sized club and remained at home with his daughter. His strategy won, and the fiend came promptly at 11 o'clock, a rather unusual hour for callers. He was invited in by the girl, and as soon as he had seated himself, the father appeared with a double barrelled shot gun. A couple of gentlemen were called in, and after hearing the facts, one of them asked the fellow what he had to say for himself. He could give no satisfactory answer, and the girl was asked to take the club procured for that purpose and whip him. This she did with a good will, while the father stood by with his gun cocked, ready for use. When considerable punishment had been administered, the scoundrel was notified to leave, with an injunction never to show himself in this community again. The young lady is a diffident school girl, and the attempt of this scoundrel to ruin her was made without any encouragement whatever. We understand that this is not the first time such things have been done in this community.—Nevada Transcript.

Montgomery Street, San Francisco.

MOTTO.—The Singer N. Line is the only Machine that will sew all kinds of cloth with all kinds of thread

The almost incredible increase in the sale of the Singer Machine during the past two years is owing to the popularity of the LETTER A TRANVERSE SHUTTLE Family Machine, which was introduced in 1860, since which time it has earned and established a reputation for family uses equal to the celebrated manufacturing machines of this firm, which are generally acknowledged even by dealers in other sewing machines, to be unequaled for such purposes.

☞ NO OTHER Family Sewing Machine has such perfect and improved appliances for Ruffling, Hemming, Binding, Felling, Tucking, Gathering, Guaging, Braiding, Cording, Quilting, etc.

☞ All persons requiring information about our Sewing Machines, their sizes, prices, working capacities, and the best method of purchasing, can obtain it by sending for a copy of the CALIFORNIANS should test the merits of DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. While it is highly palatable as a beverage, it is unequalled as a tonic and invigorator. In the pursuit of fortune at the mines, many persons are exposed to the attacks of complaints of the digestives organs, and various kinds of fever. It is the very article that has so long been in demand in the mines. Its daily use will restore the tone of a deranged stomach, impart fresh vitality to the digestive functions, and cheer the spirits. Yet the Bitters is the safest of all stimulants Let the miner who is exposed to hot and dry, wet and cold, be certain to obtain a supply of the genuine Hostetter Bitter, and he will find it a certain safeguard to health.

HOPE FOR THE AFFLICTED.—In another part of this paper will be found the advertisement of the celebrated Institute established by Dr. J. C. YOUNG in 1850. In this age of deceit and charlatanism it is a boon to the suffering to point out to them where they are sure of obtaining the wished for relief and cure. Under the care of the skillful Doctor the sick and troubled can divest themselves of their burdens of pain; lay aside their cross, and secure health and happiness. If you are sick or in trouble, do not hesitate. Read the advertisement and follow the advice. Do not forget the number nor the manner of directing your letters. Consultation Office, 540, Washington street, San Francisco. my5-3m

Medical Advice.—DR. WM. K. DOHERTY'S Medical and Surgical Institute is becoming a sine qua non to the welfare of our State and health of our citizens; and his rapidly spreading reputation, although it may excite surprise, is but the signal of skill, and follows as the natural result of such a cause. We are personally acquainted with gentlemen who had suffered for years under chronic disease, and who had taken advantage of every available means that promised relief, but without success, until they called upon Dr. Doherty who, in an incredibly short space of time, has given them entire relief. It is gratifying to announce this fact, because the Dr. is a gentleman who seeks, not by defamation of others, to establish his reputation or ruin of another's fame. The Doctor conducts his own Institute in such a manner that must be gratifying to all his patients. He examines, advises, and recommends without charge, and the patient, after hearing his terms for treatment, can accept or reject at pleasure. In no case does the Doctor make a charge, unless he effects a cure. This he is able to do, because he feels the confidence which long experience has given, and no doubt the consolation which appertains to that con fidence. Persons afflicted with either acute or chronic disease, would do well to consult the Doctor; at all events, it can do no harm, as for consultation he asks no fee; nor does he insist on obedience to his advice unless the patient places himself under his care. His offices are on Sacramento street, opposite the Pacific Mail Steamship office.—S. F. News.

GENERAL CONNOR'S TROOPS—MORE FIGHTS WITH THE INDIANS.

FORT LARAMIE, Sept. 26th.

Information has been received to-day from General Connor's right column, under command of Colonel Cole, to the 21st instant. It has been encamped near Fort Connor since the 20th instant. He has lost six hundred horses and mules, 200 of which were frozen to death in one night. On the 1st of September he was attacked by a war party of Sioux, Cheyennes, and Arapahoes on Powder river. They were repulsed with heavy loss, our loss being only four killed and two wounded. On the 3rd instant, the Indians appeared in force and were driven ten miles. The next day the engagement was resumed, and lasted until night, the Indians being again defeated with great slaughter, their loss being from 200 to 800 killed and wounded. The Indians fled in every direction, but our troops were unable to pursue them on account of the poor condition of their stock. Our loss was one killed, and one officer and two men wounded. The Indians lost a large number of horses. They again attacked our troops on the 8th, but, after a short and spirited engagement, they were totally routed and beautifully cleaned out. Their force was estimated at 3,000. They lost many of their principal chiefs. Our total reported loss in the three engagements is seven killed, and one officer and two men wounded. Another battle was expected on Powder river, but the Indians suddenly disappeared. Colonel Cole will camp at Fort Connor, or wait till information is received from General Connor.

THE opening address of Dr. Holden before the San Joaquin Valley Agricultural Society, contains much interesting information. He tells us among other things, that the State of California, extending from latitude 32 degrees and 20 minutes south, to latitude 42 degrees north, with a length of 570 and an average length of 230 miles, embraces 89,685 515 acres adapted to agricultural purposes, 29,000,000 acres swamp or tule land, thousands of acres of which are now being reclaimed, and much of it producing unparallelled crops of vegetables, grass and fruits. The area of the valley land is 30,000,000 acres, making with the mountain lands a total of 1,000,000 acres suitable for agriculture and grazing. Of this, there is under fence 6,000,000 acres, of which 178,960 acres, in 1860, produced 3,068,693 bushels of wheat; 154,690 acres, produced 4,639,678 bushels of barley; 37,610 acres, produced 1,263,458 bushels of oats. This year, as near as can be ascertained up to the present date, four times the above amount of cereals have been raised. Fruit trees and grape-vines, in 1860, numbered 6,000,000. These have quadrupled up to this time. Stock, of all kinds, in 1860, numbered 1,577,980 Horses, 1,577,000; cattle, 722,384; sheep, 491,794; goats, 12,743; swine, 165,921; mules, 47,009: poultry, over 80,000. At the present time there are over 2,000,000 sheep, and in no part of the world do they do better or can be raised at a less cost. The French and Spanish merinos, the Southdown, the Coltswold, and other varieties, have been imported from the Atlantic States, France, Spain and Australia, and prosper as well here as in their native countries. Wool is fast becoming an important article of export, over 7,000,000 pounds having been shipped last year. Besides the inexhaustible gold mines, which embrace over 44,000 square miles, minerals and metals of almost every kind have been found. Silver, copper, platina, iron, quicksilver, antimony, tin, arsenic, cobalt, manganese, lead, coal, ochres, saltpetre in large quantities lime, gypsum, freestone, marble, granite, borax and brimstone are found in quantities to supply the world. Petroleum has recently been discovered in several sections of the State, and bids fair to be of great value, thus adding another item to our wealth and commerce. Over $1,000,000,000 of gold has been exported since 1856.

WE learn from Dr. Holden, that since 1860, the time copper was discovered or attracted notice, one mine, the Union, located in Copperopolis, is now sending to the East 3,000 tons per month, employs over 1,200 animals to freight it to Stockton, at a cost of about $30,000 per month for freight. The capacity of this mine, together with the Keystone, Calaveras and Empire, in Copperopolis, and the Campo Seco and Copper Hill, in Campo Seco, can ship next season over 20,000 tons per month.

WE are told by the San Jose Mercury that a miner while drifting a tunnel from the bottom of a shaft, near Lexington, a few days since, was suddenly amazed by a jet of blue flame emanating from a cleft in the rocks. He threw down his pick and made somewhat lively tracks for the bottom of the shaft, where he signalled his desire to leave that section of the country. The man that was determind to strike oil or h—ll would have a chance there.

THE mountain counties of the district to which San Joaquin belongs, have expended $3,382,000 in constructing 850 miles of ditches for mining purposes. If the amount of money should be expended in turning the Mokelumne, Calaveras and Stanislaus rivers by canals and ditches, upon the 300,000 acres now under cultivation in San Joaquin it would become a Piedmont or Lombardy.

THE Visalia Delta says: Company H, 2d Cavalry under charge of Captain McLean, who fought the Indians so effectively at Bear River passed through town on September 27th, en route for Camp Drumm. They are a fine-looking body of men and their conduct on the march through that region was honorable and gentlemanly.

THE Assessor's report of Santa Clara county shows the yield of wheat to be less per acre than last year, while the yield of potatoes, corn and beans has been greater. Wheat last year averaged twenty-seven and a half bushels per acre. This year the yield was but twenty-three and a half bushels per acre.

CONSIDERABLE sickness prevails in Nevada and vicinity. The diseases are mostly of an inflammatory character, rheumatism, etc., and are probably caused by the late rain and increase of dampness in the atmosphere. One or two cases of diptheria have occurred in the lower part of the county.

THE Santa Cruz Sentinel says that a bundle of clothes, containing among other things, a photograph picture of a fine-looking woman, was found near the wharf in that place, on Thursday last. Attached to the bundle were two letters, signed Theodore Saenger.

THE New Idria Quicksilver mine is again in operation. A thousand flasks of quicksilver are now in transitu, or ready for shipment from this mine. The metal has to be hauled a distance of one hundred and twenty miles, via. San Juan and Gilroy to San Jose.

A JUDGEMENT has been rendered in the District Court, San Jose, for $3,958, against the sureties of Jasper D. Gunn. Gunn was City Marshal in 1860-61, and was defaulter to the city in the above amount. Another suit is pending for a still further defalcation during the years '61 and '62.

A BEE tree was found in the limb of a large old oak tree, near the old Hamilton House, Oroville, on Monday week last, by John Heath. By means of a ladder the limb was reached and severed. Over one hundred pounds of honey was obtained.

THE Nevada City Gazette understands that Tisdale and Larribee have struck a splendid ledge of quartz about eight miles above town, on Deer Creek. The ledge is six or eight feet wide and the rock prospects exceedingly well.

MUCH disappointment prevails in Tulare county owing to the late order of the military department directing the abandonment of Fort Babbitt. That post is to be reestablished permanently in some new locality.

VARIOUS accounts from Owens River represent considerable activity as prevailing in that silver district.

UNION PLATFORM.

Adopted by the State Convention, Aug. 17, 1865.

Resolved, That representing the loyal Union men, and the Union party of California, we acknowledge our inestimable debt of gratitude to the brave men who on land and sea have fought the battles of the republic through the varying fortunes of a desperate civil war; to the statesmen who have exercised the civil authority of the Government and conducted its diplomacy; and above all to Almighty God, whose gracious Providence in the affairs of man was never more signally manifest than in bringing our country—the hope and beacon light of humanity—triump'antly through so terrible a struggle.

Resolved, That while we have reason to rejoice in the success which has attended Union arms, and Union principles, we recognise the facts that our work is not yet done; that great questions yet remain to be settled and great difficulties to be overcome by Congress and the Administration in bringing order, peace and submission to law, out of the confusion and disorder in which the war has left the late rebel States; that there are still elements of disaffection to be restrained in the section lately in rebellion and to be combatted at the polls in California; and that consequently there is no less necessity than heretofore for maintaining the organization of the party in its full vigor and integrity, to the end that California may at all times be in condition to render the most effective and loyal support to every measure of policy which may be found necessary by Congress or the Administration in order to maintain the authority of the Union and to secure and perpetuate the just fruits of victory.

Resolved, That in the life of Abraham Lincoln we recognize not only the eminent and lasting services which he rendered to our country as a patriot and a statesman, but also the brilliant and unstained example which he has left to his countrymen and mankind. Hitherto our history has been wanting in our illustration of the stimulating energy and of the field of action bestowed by our republican institutions. But in the history of his life we have an actual instance of one born in the humblest condition of society, who surmounted the obstacles infused by poverty and want of education, rising successfully from the lowest to the highest station in country, equal to every position and superior to every trial, and everywhere and at all times, and for all time presenting to the world the ideal type of the representative republican man, citizen and patriot. On his tomb we lay the offering of gratitude and love.

Resolved, That in Andrew Johnson we recognize the worthy successor of Abraham Lincoln; like him the representative of the benefits of our free and beneficent republican institutions, and that to him we transfer, with undoubting faith, the allegiance of hope and love which we bear to the beloved institutions of our county. That we approve the spirit of combined firmness and clemency which has thus far characterized his administration. We indorse his declaration, "That the restoration of peace and order cannot be entrusted to rebels and traitors who destroyed the peace and trampled down the order that had existed more than half a century," and believe it to be the duty of all Union men to oppose the restoration of civil power in the rebellious States until the President and Congress shall be satisfied that it will be weilded by truly loyal majorities therein. We have the fullest confidence in the Administration of President Johnson, and in his patriotism, wisdom and judgment, and pledge him our earnest support.

Resolved That it is the duty and policy of the State of California to adopt the amendment of the Constitution of the United States prohibiting involuntry servitude except on conviction for crime throughout the United States.

Resolved, That the Monroe doctrine is the traditional and well established policy of the United States, and we cannot see with indifference the subversion of the liberties of a friendly republic by European arms, and the establishment of imperialism by the same means, on our immediate borders.

PLACER COUNTY UNION PLATFORM.

WHEREAS, the Union party of Placero cunty have assembled in Convention on this 27th day of June, 1865, for the purpose of choosing appropriate men to serve the people of said county as public officers; therefore

Resolved, That the Union men of this county rejoice over the success of the Federal Government in crushing beneath its iron heel the Slaveholders rebellion, and in restoring law and order in the rebellious States

Resolved, That we are in favor of a pacific national policy toward foreign nations in the settlement of demands and difficulties which have arisen during the rebellion, but are unanimously opposed to a compromise of any principal of right or National honor, for the sake of peace.

Resolved, That we reiterate our policy of retrenchment in an economical administration of our County, State and National affairs, and that in this connection, we declare our unqualified approval of the course of our late lamented Chief Magistrate, for the past four years, as deserving our lasting gratitude of a free and Chrirtian people: for his sound statemanship evinced by him, and the noble patriots whom he had called around him.

Resolved, That we earnestly desire the adoption, by the California Legislature, of the Constitutional Amendment passed by Congress at its last session, forever prohibiting slavery in the United States.

Resolved, That the loyal citizens of this county look forward with the greatest anxiety to the adoption of the National Currency Notes as a circulating medium.

Resolved, That henceforth the watchword of American patriots shall be, America for Americans, and by Americans, which includes all men born on native or foreign soil, who accept in their hearts our Declaration of Independence, our Constitution and our laws, and who are inspired by the spirit of American liberty, while it rigidly excludes all, both native and foreign, in whose hearts there is avowed sympathy with domestic traitors or foreign foes.

MISCELLANEOUS ADVERTISEMENTS.

QUICK CURES, SMALL CHARGES.

ELERTROPATHIC INSTITUTE,
645 Washington Street, San Francisco,
ESTABLISHED FEBRUARY, 1860, BY AN ASSOCIATION OF SCIENTIFIC GENTLEMEN FOR THECUE OF DISEASES, AND THE SUPPRESSION OF QUACKERY.

Truths for the Afflicted.

This splendid establishment was inaugurated in February, 1860, by an association of Scientific gentlemen, that there might be a Medical Establishment in San Francisco, where the afflicted could find scientific and honorable, as well as humane treatment. Outrageous Quackery had so long run rampant over afflicted humanity that all confidence was being lost in the Medical Profession, and it was time that there should be an Institute where the afflicted could apply with the certainty of honorable and Scientific treatment. And the result has thus far exceeded the most sanguine expectations of its founders.

Thousands have been made to rejoice in returned health who had been trifled with by the numerous vampires that abound upon this coast, the chief of whom has been obliged to close out and leave the country; but still there are some left of whom the afflicted should beware.

The basis of the treatment at the Insitute is the Electropathic System. The Physician and Surgeon who has been a Professor in one of the best Medical Colleges in America, and who has made a special study of Chronic Diseases for the last fifteen years, is thoroughly qualified to treat by medicine, and will warrant a perfect and permanent cure in the shortest possible time. All long-standing cases of disease no matter what may be their nature, give way under the course of treatment pursued at the Institute, and the result is perfect health and a strengthened constitution where it has been injured.

It would be useless to enumerate the diseases as it would be occupying space to no purpose. Every nameable complaint to which humanity is liable can be cured by the faculty at the Institute.

No mercury is used upon any consideration. All medicines prescribed are vegetable, and in cases where the patient can remain in the city, and wishes to be treated by Electricity, no medicines will be used. All medicines are electrized, which makes them much more active, and destroys all nauseous taste, making them as palatable as wine.

The Directors wish to speak of specialities more extensively than of other complaints, because empirics have used more deception about them than they have about the regular troubles of the human family. And first on the list is that dreadful malady denominated Seminal Weakness, or Spermatorrhœa, a complaint which not only affects the body with pain and lassitude, making life a burden, but affects the brain, creating Insanity. It drives more men to the mad house than all other diseases added together. By the Electropathic System this terrible trouble gives way, and the hitherto emaciated victim is made to rejoice in perfect health.

Next upon the list is Venereal, in all of its terrible forms and phases.

It is impossible to paint this disease in colors sufficiently terrible to do it justice. It is the most awful disease to which the human family is liable, and if not arrested when active, making him a loathsome mass of living corruption. It is also one of the most insidious diseases in the world. While the exterior shows no symptom, the terrible disease is sapping the foundations of life, preparing to attack its vital parts, as soon as the patient shall by some indiscretion weaken the system. Reader, if you have ever had this awful disease in any form whatever, call at once at the Institute, and the physician there will examine you and tell you if you have any of the virus in your blood. In such cases consultations are always gratis, and should you have any of the dreadful complaint about you, a cure will be warranted in a short time, or no charges will be ade for servicems.

Strictures.

This terrible affection, which badly affects the nervous system as to prevent sound and health giving sleep, should be attended to in its early stages, or an operation both painful and dangerous will have to be resorted to. It is usually first indicated by darting pains in the parts, but very light and hardly noticeable at first, increasing gradually, until they become troublesome, sometimes accompanied by slight irritations in the passage of urine—A quick cure is easily performed at the Institute if early application is made.

To Females.

Your delicate organizations should be treated with great scientific care. At the Institute you will find a kind physician, who can at once discover your disease or trouble, and sympatize with you in your affliction. Should you be irregular you can get relief, no matter what may be the cause. You need not fear to call on account of the delicacy of consultation for the utmost secrecy will be insured at all times, and the resident physician will treat you in the most honorable manner, giving you all the assistance and advice, both medical and surgical, that you may require. Private apartments, especially for Ladies.

Preventive.

Dr. J. H. Josselyn's celebrated Preventive for married ladies can be obtained only at the Institute. Price, Ten Dollars.

Warranted to prevent pregnancy. Can be used without any inconvenience, and is good for one year if directions are followed.

This Magnetic Preventive is not infurious, but is conducive to health, and can be used without the knowledge of any one but the party using it.

To sum up, there is no place where the medical profession is practiced in the State of California, wherein the same amount of scientific attainments are employed, and, consequently, where the afflicted can be so well treated, and be as sure of a cure, as at the Electropathic Institute, 645 Washington street, (south side,) a few doors below Kearny.

Reader, if you are sick and need medical assistance call therebefore employing any one else, and judge for yourself. You will there find the best consulting, as well as the the best operating talent in the State, together with the only Electropathic Instrument that can be depended upon in the curative process.

Medicine sent to all parts of the State, Oregon and Nevada, upon the receipt of a letter describing the case.

All letters must be directed to J. H. JOSSELYN, M. D., Resident Physician, Electropathic Institute.

Dr. H. JOSSLYN has no connection with any otherestablishment or Institute in this city.

All letters answered with promptness and pleasure, and the utmost secrecy observed. Address

PRIVATE MEDICAL AID.
Quick Cures and Moderate Charges.
DR. W. K. DOHERTY'S
Private Medical and Surgical Institute,
Sacramento Street, below Montgomery, opposite the Pacific Mail Steamship Co.'s Office.
Private entrance on Leidesdorff st.,
San Francisco.

Established expressly to afford the afflicted sound and Scientific Medical Aid, in the treatment and cure of all Private and Chronic Diseases, cases of secrecy and all Sexual Diseases.

To the Afflicted.

DR. W. K. DOHERTY returns his sincere thanks to his numerous patients for their patronage, and would take this opportunity to remind them that he continues to consult at his Institute for the cure of chronic diseases of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Digestive and Genito-Urinary Organs, and all private diseases, viz: Syphilis in all its form and stages, Seminal Weakness, and all the horrid consequences of self-abuse, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Strictures, Nocturnal and Diurnal Emissions, Sexual Debility, Diseases of the Back and Loins, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, etc., etc., and he hopes that his long experience and successful practice will continue to ensure him a share of public patronage. By the practice of many years in Europe and the United States, he is enabled to apply the most efficient and successful remedies against diseases of all kinds. He uses no mercury, charges moderate, treats his patients in a correct and honorable way, and has references from men of known respectability and high standing in society. All parties consulting him, by letter of otherwise, will receive the best and gentlest treatment and implicit secrecy.

DR. DOHERTY would call attention to the following certificates from two of his patients, who having fully recovered their health, desire to make known their remedial agent. It will be seen their statements are fully authenticated by a Notary Public.

The welfare of society imperiously demand their publicity, and they are given more to warn the unwary than to sound the praises of a Physician, of whom hundreds of like cases can be cited, during a practice of more than fifteen years.

Dr. Doherty—Dear Sir: I feel my health so fully restored, that in common gratitude, I believe I should make you some written acknowledgment for your valuable services—particularly so as your fee was small for the work performed.

I arrived in this city from the East about one year ago, and was then suffering from an old case of Gleet, complicated with Stricture. Being a stranger in this city, and believing those Doctors who gave such positive assurances of success were necessarily the best (some of whom have a large number of titles), I placed myself in their charge and continued under their treatment until I had lost nearly all hope and a considerable sum of money.

I wish to say now that you are the sixth Doctor I have employed, and the only one that has ever done me any service. My Gleet is wholly cured, the Stricture is all removed, and my general health is better than it has been for years.

In conclusion I would say to the many unfortunates who require medical advice, if you have any doubt as to whom you may employ, ask Dr. Doherty for my address and call and see me. (I keep store in this city.) My experience may save you many dollars.

I would also add that in the early stage of my disease, I used a large amount of the preparations advertised as an infallible cure for Gonorrhœa, Gleet, etc., but never derived any benefit from them.

I am, Doctor, very truly yours, L—— H——.
San Francisco, June 16, 1864.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 21st day of June, A. D. 1864.

[L. S.] A. S. GOULD, Notary Public.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS—A SWORN-TO CERTIFICATE OF MOST REMARKABLE CURE OF SPERMATORRHŒA.

A desire to benefit humanity, and a feeling of gratitude to Dr. W. K. Doherty, alone induces me to make this statement. For many years I have been afflicted with that fearful disease known as "Spermatorrhœa" or Seminal Weakness, the result of selfabuse, but till 1855 experienced but little trouble or inconvenience. In that year however, I had Seminal weakness to an alarming extent, which was soon followed by the most alarming symptoms as weakness of the back and limbs, pain in the head, dimness of vision, nervousness and general debility. My mind, too, was afflicted to such an extent as to seriously impair my memory; my ideas were confused and spirits depressed. I was averse to society, had evil forebodings and self-distrust, and was entirely unfitted for any of the duties of life. From 1855 to the summer of 1863, I employed the very best medical talent I could find, and spent several hundred dollars, but in no instance obtained more than temporary relief. I had about concluded there was no relief for me in this world, but seeing Dr. Doherty's advertisement, I thought I would call and see him, as he charged nothing for consultation. I had an interview with Dr. Doherty at his office, in Sacramento street, and his fee for treatment was so reasonable, I determined to try him, though I did not expect much benefit from his treatment. On the 5th of December last I placed myself under his care; in one week I found myself very much improved, and now, after five weeks' treatment, I feel myself thoroughly cured of all my troubles and in the enjoyment of the best health. Hoping that my experience may be of benefit to others similarly afflicted, I subscribe myself JAMES JOHNSTON.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 15th day of January, A. D. 1864.

[L. S.] A. G. RANDALL, Notary Public.

To Females.

When a female is in trouble, or afflicted with disease, as weakness of the back and limbs, pain in the head, dimness of sight, loss of muscular power, palpitation of the heart, irritability, nervousness, extreme urinary difficulties, derangement of digestive functions, general debility, vaginitis, all diseases of the womb, hysteria, sterility, and all other diseases peculiar to females, they should go or write at once to the celebrated female doctor, W. K. Doherty, at his Medical Institute, and consult him about their troubles and disease. The Doctor is effecting more cures than any other Physician in the State of California. Let no false delicacy prevent you, but apply immediately and save yourself from painful sufferings and premature death. All Married Ladies, whose delicate health or other circumstances prevent an increase in their families should write or call at Dr. W. K. Doherty's Medical Institute, and they will receive every possible relief and help. The Doctor's offices are so arraged that he can be consulted without fear of observation.

To orrespondents.

Patients residing in any part of the State, however distant, who may desire the opinion and advice of Dr. Doherty on their respective cases, and who think proper to submit a written statement of such, in preference to holding a personal interview, are respectfully assured that their communications will be held most sacred. Dr. Doherty takes this opportunity of observing, that all letters are only opened and replied to by himself, and the latter as promptly as possible.

If the case be fully and candidly described, the usual fee of ten dollars enclosed, (by express or in a registered letter) personal communication will be superseded, as instructions for diet, regimen, and the general treatment the case itself (including the remedies), will be forwarded without delay, and in such a manner as to convey no purport of the letter or parcel so transmitted.

AND HAPPINESS

NOT A FEW

Of the worst disorders that afflict mankind arise from the corruption that accumulates in the blood. Of all the discoveries that have been made to purge it out, none can equal in effect HELMBOLD'S COMPOUND EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA. It cleanses and renovates the Blood, instills the vigor of health into the system, and purges out the humors which make disease. It stimulates the healthy functions of the body, and expels the disorders that grow and rankle in the Blood. Such a remedy, that could be relied on, has long been sought for, and now, for the first time, the public have one on which they can depend. Our space here does not admit of certificates to show its effects, but the trial of a single bottle will show to the sick that it has virtues surpassing anything they have ever taken.

Two tablespoonsful of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoction as usually made.

The above Extracts are prepared on purely scientific principles—in Vacuo—and embody the full strength of the ingredients entering into their composition. A ready and conclusive test will be a comparison of their properties with those set forth in the U. S. Dispensatory.

HOW TO USE THE REMEDIES.

In Diseases of the Blood, Humors on the Face, or any and every part of the body, use Extract Sarsaparilla, applying to Pimples and all external Humors or Eruptions the Improved Rose Wash.

Use the Extract Buchu for all diseases requiring the aid of a Diuretic, except those of the Urinary Organs, such as Gonorrhœa and Gleet; in these use the Extract Buchu and inject with the Improved Rose Wash.

☞ THESE EXTRACTS HAVE BEEN ADMITTED TO USE IN THE UNITED STATES ARMY, and also are in very general use in all the STATE HOSPITALS AND PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS throughout the land, as well as in private practice, and are considered as invaluable remedies.

The California Fly Killing Liquid.

FLY PAPER KILLS ITS THOUSANDS, THE LIQUID Fly Killer its tens of thousands. This preparation for killing flies gives the greatest satisfaction of anything ever yet used. It is now improved to the highest killing point. It is of such a nature and so speedy of effects, that the flies will not spot the walls and windows, which makes the use of other preparations so objectionable.

PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITUTE
Established by
DR. J. C. YOUNG, IN 1850,
FOR THE CURE OF ALL PRIVATE DISEASES AND ALL FEMALE COMPLAINTS.

THIS CELEBRATED INSTITUTE

has enjoyed on this coast an uninterrupted success of fourteen years, and has become one of the renowned Hospitals of the age. What the celebrated Lock Hospital is to London, and the no less renowned establishment of Ricord is to Paris, this Institute has become to the Pacific coast. The thousands annually received and cured place it in point of number of patients among the very first of the world, and the success of its treatment ranks it second to none.

PRIVATE DISEASES IN MALES and IRREGULARITIES IN FEMALES are the great destroyers of health. They insidiously attack the system and gradually undermine and destroy it; they drive the bloom from the cheek, the lustre from the eye, the strength and vigor from the frame; they give to the world puny and diseased offspring, and poison, through successive generations the race of man. The marks can be seen in Scrofula, Consumption, Cripples, the Idiotic, the Paralytic, the Insane, etc.

There is no more terrible scourge to the human race than those diseases arising from the contamination of Venerial Poison. The mildest forms, by retreating to the blood, hold over over the one afflicted, the sword of destruction that is liable at any moment to fall and blight—to utterly destroy—all earthly hopes.

MERCURY, recognized as the most fatal medical enemy to man, combining with the Venerial, doubles its dangers. Those who have been treated with that pernicious mineral poison are not cured: the disease has only assumed a new form.

Do not be Satisfied with Partial Cures that leave the poison to crawl through the system, eating its way into the tissues and organs beneath the apparently smooth surface, to burst out in the future with a virulence that will baffle the effects of medicine. WHEN PERFECT CURES can be obtained by consulting a physician whom long practice and thorough investigation into the causes of DISEASES of the URINARY ORGANS enables to determine at once the nature of the disease.

In all diseases entrusted to the Doctor's care, PERFECT, SPEEDY and PERMANENT.

Cures are always Guaranteed.

In syphilis and its adjuncts; Gonnorhœa and its accompanying diseases; and all disorders of the Bladder, Kidneys and prostrate; Seminal Weakness; Diseases of the Heart and Lungs; Dyspepsia; Indigestion, Impotency; Incipient Consumption, and all diseases of the urinary organs, in either sex, cure always warranted, OR NO PAY REQUIRED at the

SEMINAL WEAKNESS OR SPERMATORRŒA.

The young man who experiences that growing weakness in his muscular and mental organization should stop to consider whence it arises. He will find in the weakness of the back, trembling of the limbs, disordered digestion, unaccountable failing of the powers of the mind, distaste for society, dread of impending trouble, forebodings of evil sleeplessness, troubled and lacivious dreams accompanied by growing deafness, loss of muscular power, and numerous other symptoms of disorganization, the positive traces of that most terrible and destructive of all diseases, Seminal Weakness—wasting away his powers, destroying his hope of life and manhood, and dragging him along the broken path of his existence toward a premature and loathsome grave. To him who finds his life dribbling out in the discharge of the vital principal of existence in nocturnal and diurnal emissions, the mere cessation of its appearance brings no assurance of relief.

Marriage, that holy office, the safeguard and hope of manhood, brings to such an one no hope of cure, but adds to his misery in the knowledge that the one who looks to him for so much of her happiness, is a victim of his evil, and an innocent companion of his punishment. He adds to his misery and disorder until hope leaves him. There is no rescue except in proper and skillful treatment. Consult then, at once, a physician whom long practice and careful research has made thoroughly conversant with every phase of the disease. Those who have become the victims of solitary vices, that dreadful, fascinating and destructive habit, which fills thousands of sick rooms with paralytics and consumptives, and hundreds of untimely graves with its misguided victims, should consult, without a moment's delay, one who will sympathise with their sufferings. To such the Doctor would especially address himself, giving to each and all assurance of a PERFECT and PERMANENT CURE, without hindrance from business, change of diet, or fear of exposure.

Do not forget the address. See below.

Important to Females.

When a female is in trouble or afflicted with disease, and requires medical or surgical assistance, the enquiry should be, Where is there a physician who is fully competent to administer relief, and whose respectable standing in society recommends him to the confidence of the community? The Doctor, understanding how imperatively necessary these requirements are, feels called upon to interpose, and by the attention of the afflicted to the fact that he has been a Professor of Obstetrics and Female Diseases for twenty years, and is fully qualified to administer in all cases, both medically and surgically, not in a superficial manner, but in as thorough a manner as years of study and practice—both in hospitals and private families—can make, to save them from the hands of the unqualified, unscrupulous and designing. Therefore families can rely upon him as upon a father. All in affliction can find in him one who can feel and sympathise with and befriend them in trouble—one in whose secrecy and the utmost confidence can be placed. Consultation, by letter or otherwise, Free. See address below.
